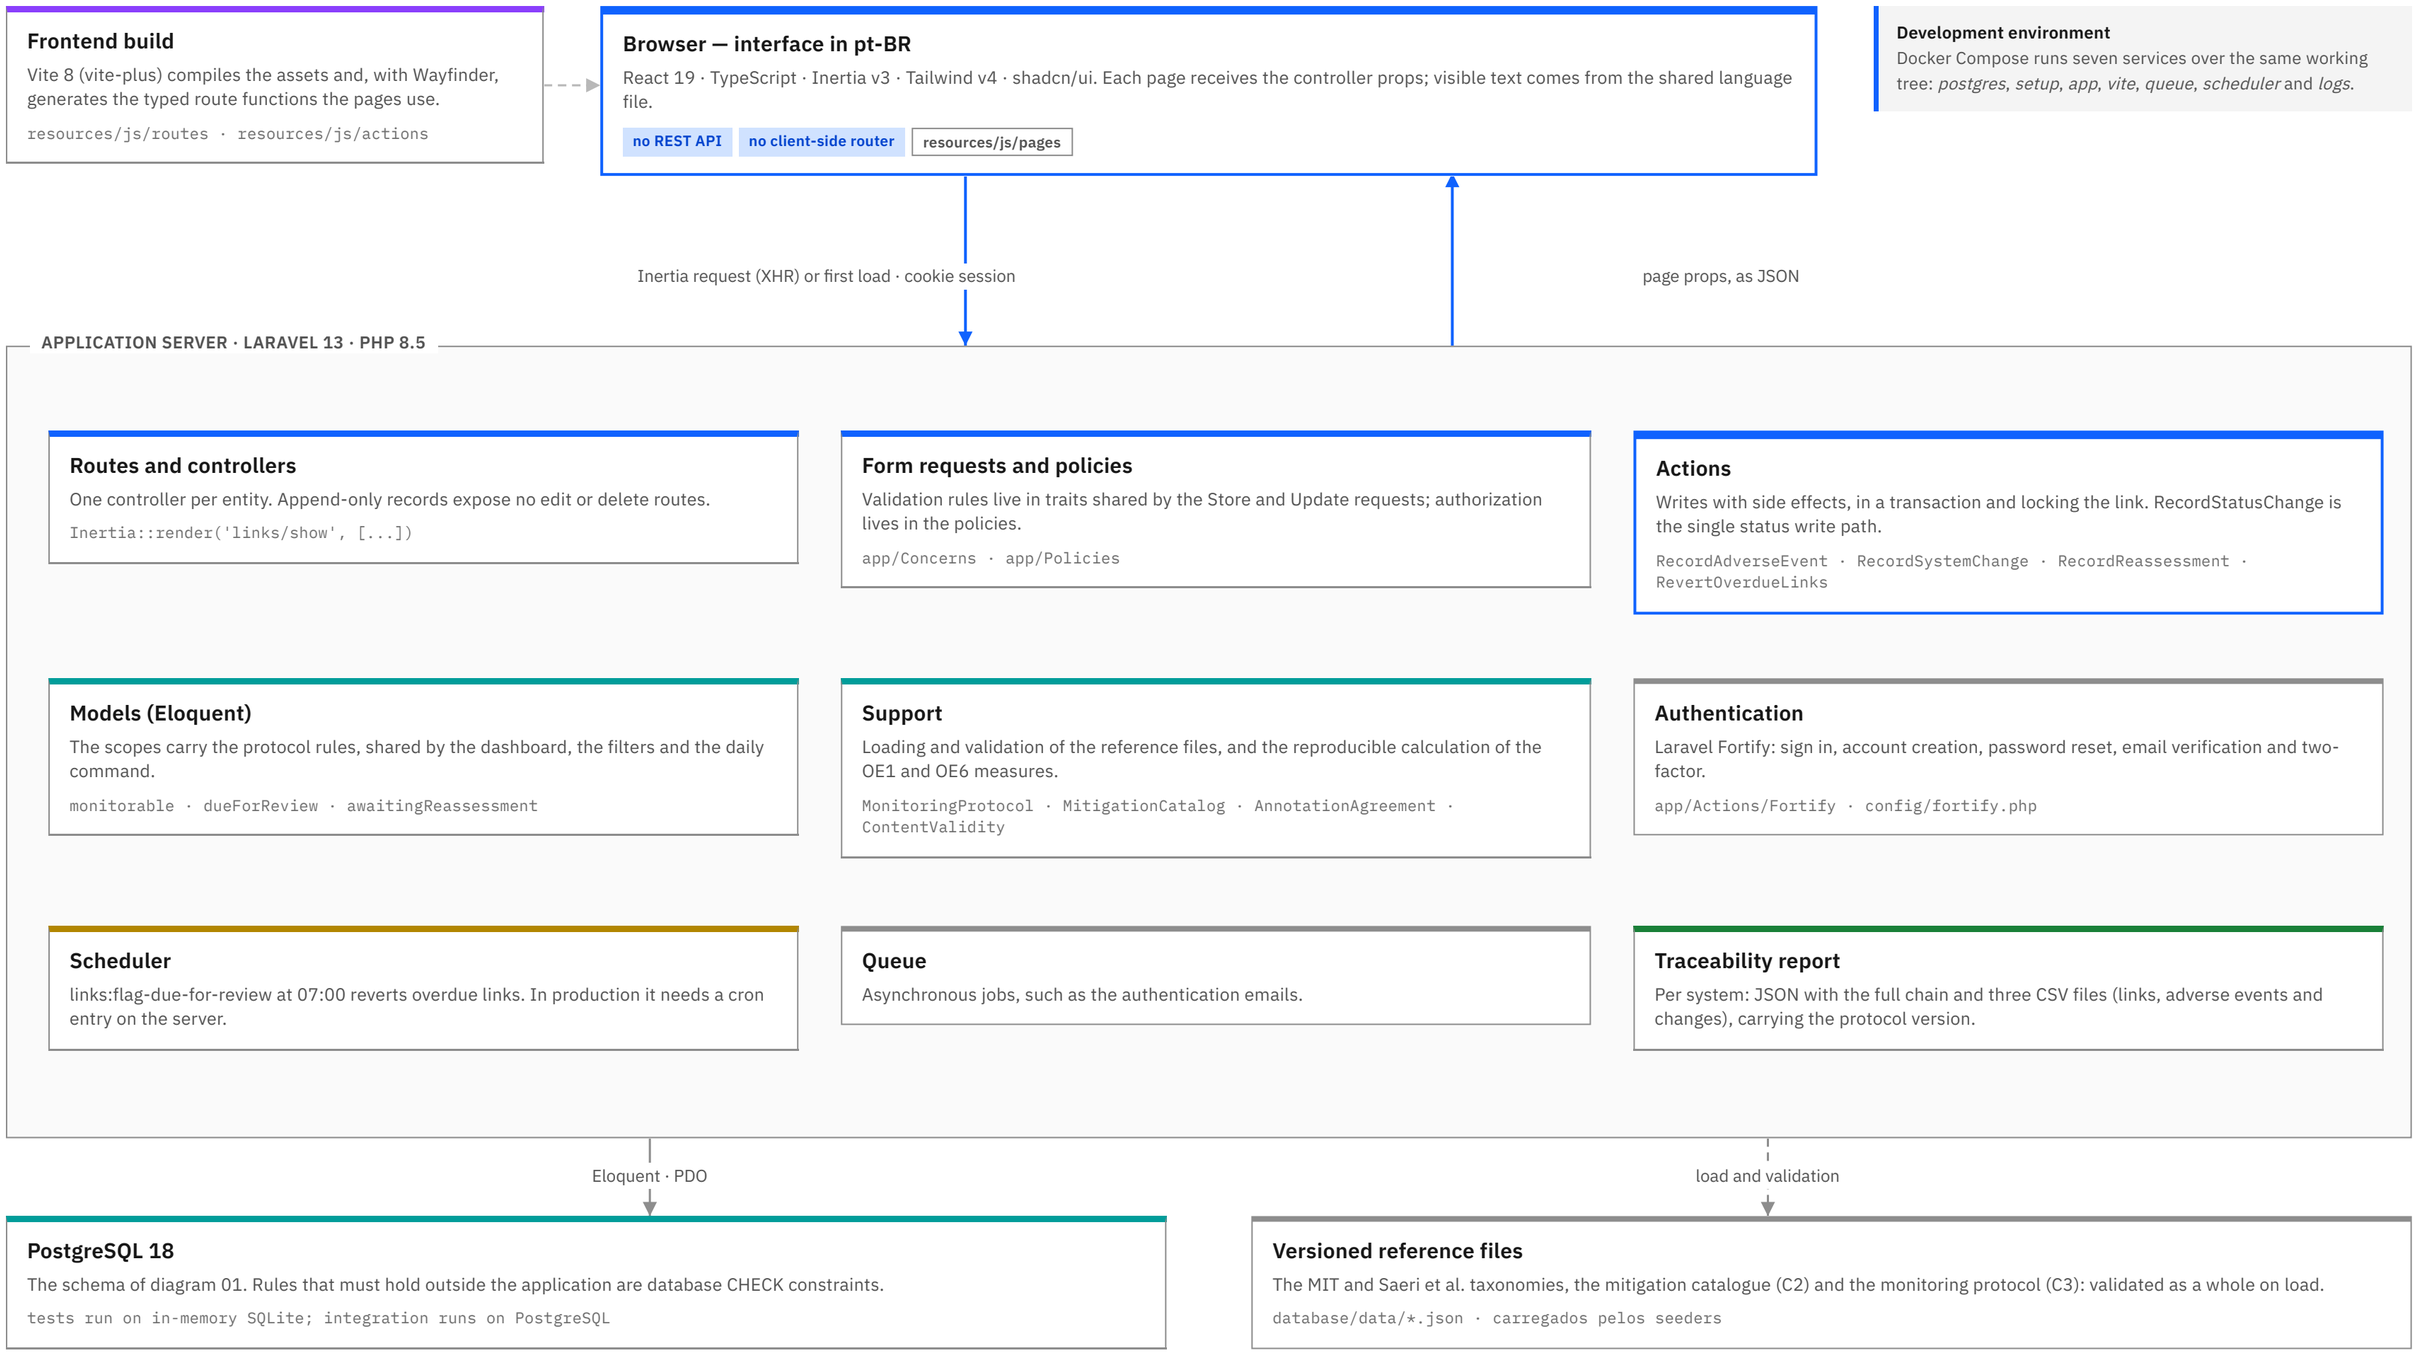
Prototype architecture (C4)

A Laravel monolith with a React interface served by Inertia: the controller returns the page and its props, with no REST API layer and no client-side router.



Every write with side effects goes through an Action in a transaction; RecordStatusChange is the single write path for a link status.